Teacher's Notes

This game is a great way to get children to communicate enthusiastically with one another. The students should complete this task in pairs or groups.

GAME INSTRUCTIONS: Each group is given one clue card. They follow the coloring instructions written on the card. Once they complete the coloring task, they trade the card for another one (the teacher can hold the cards). The first group to complete all the coloring correctly wins!

To make sure that the communication is in English rather than in their native language, an “English Only” rule can be in effect during this activity.

Each time a member of a group speaks in their native language, there is a penalty of 10 seconds when they want to trade a card.

For faster play, each group can trade two or three cards at a time. A prize can be given for the first group to finish and also to the group with the best coloring.

Each group needs the following crayons: blue, red, green, purple, pink, yellow, and brown.
